NEW SCULPTURES

My Secret Garden Sculptures is a new series of medium-sized sculptures that embodies Arne Quinze's research on the diversity of nature. With the works Lobelia, Lupine, Persicaria, The Chatelain and African Iris the artist focuses on different questions in the evolution of anthropology through botany. The unbridled evolutionary force of plants to develop into a broad spectrum of diverse forms, structures and colours are the basis for Arne Quinze's visual storytelling.

My Secret Garden Sculptures series is the artists attempt to capture the power of nature and to shift our focus back to the importance of our relationship with nature.

XXII MONTHS PAINTING

The exhibition in Brussels will also be the introduction of a 12-piece My Secret Garden painting, a real magnum opus inspired by the changes that nature confronts us with through the seasons.

The artist is available for interviews.
